

"...that they might be called trees of righteousness"

This Sunday, my family joined 3 other families for an evening of games via Zoom and the website Jackboxgames.com. These interactive games had all of us laughing, cheering and razzing each other. There was a cost of $12.00 + for the host to purchase the party pack of 4 or 5 games but the rest are able to stream and play for free.

If you have other novel ideas on how to stay connected or just have a blast during this time, you or your students could post them on the Creative Community page set up by Jeanne Daningburg on our Google Classroom.
