

"...that they might be called trees of righteousness"

I would like to share with everyone an article that was extended to me yesterday by one of our parents. The article titled: I've Worked From Home for 22 Years. Here's What I've Learned, offers some valuable ideas on how to manage the work environment we now find ourselves in.

I believe this can apply to most of us right now whether students, faculty/staff, parents who are now working from home or parents who are helping their children or spouses adjust to this new reality. I hope you enjoy this, find it helpful and I want to wish you all a wonderful day.
